A Crisis of Perception: Toward the Long Now by Julie Meitz • 5/3 — 5/11 • Zeitgeist Detroit

Pictured above is artist Julie Meitz who is the creative force behind this multimedia performance and dance installation. Based on the book The Clock of the Long Now by Stewart Brand, A Crisis... ponders time in the context of our society's short attention span, addressing ideas like "the consequences of the acceleration of technology" and "the dominance of commerce." The installation exists in six sets including: video, film, art and performances by actors, dancers and DJs. Meitz has been a contributor to the Detroit art scene for over ten years. Her past installation pieces have included TV or Sex? and Dance of Life Confronts Apathy. — A.B.
